Optimization & integration for delivering higher values

Today, the scientific research starts to rethink its participation and possible new collaboration in the different phases of data lifecycle:

- Scientific research is mainly based on HPC practices
 - Often deals with unstructured data & file based processing
 - Traditionally has not embraced high-availability, business solutions
 - Capital cost and funding are significant issues
- Scientific research just starts to adopt RDBMS processing (where feasible)
 - Process less and only relevant data, producing results faster
 - Improved consumability - forced to integrate with other (i.e. commercial, portal) applications to deliver the value
